PDUs or Professional Development Units are a measuring unit used by the PMI to quantify the amount of approved learning and professional service activities undertaken by a PMI credential holder within a given period (nominally the 3 year certification cycle).

3. How long does it take to earn PDUs?

Each 1 hour of professional development activity is equivalent to 1 PDU.

4. How can I earn PDUs with Professional Development?

As an R.E.P. Professional Development can award PDUs which you can allocate against your PMP® credential.

Savings

When you have a number of potential candidates for training, in-company can work out as extremely cost-effective.

We will come to your premises, or a location chosen by you to deliver the training. This minimises disruption to, and eliminates travel costs for your team.
