About PMP® Requirements

If you're thinking about a Project Management Professional (PMP)® qualification, you've probably heard about the PMP® requirements.

The PMP® credential is designed for experienced project managers. As such, it has specific eligibility requirements. We have created this guide to give you a breakdown of these requirements so that you can make an informed decision about choosing to achieve a PMP® credential.

If you don't meet the PMP® eligibility requirements we have included some excellent alternatives on pages 7 and 8 of this guide, so that you can progress your project management career while you gain the necessary experience for the PMP® credential.

PMP® Credential - Fast Facts

The Project Management Professional (PMP)® credential is one of the most widely-recognised and best-respected project management qualifications worldwide.

As such, PMP® credential holders are known to be accomplished project management professionals.

The PMP® credential is awarded by the Project Management Institute, Inc. (PMI)®.

There were 932, 720 active PMP® certified individuals as of August 2019*.

It was designed by the PMI® in the early 1980s as a qualification specifically for experienced project managers.

The PMP® exam is based around the PMI's flagship publication, A Guide to the Project Management Body of Knowledge (PMBOK® Guide).

Don't Have Enough Experience for the PMP® Exam?

If you don't meet the PMP® eligibility requirements, there are some excellent alternatives. Our top suggestion is to consider the Certified Associate in Project Management (CAPM)®.

CAPM® Certification: Fast Facts

- ✓ The CAPM® Certification is also awarded by the PMI®.
- ✓ It is a popular choice for anyone who wants to learn the PMI's PMBOK® Guide framework, but who doesn't have the experience to satisfy PMP® requirements.
- ✓ We run our CAPM® and PMP® exam preparation courses together.
- ✓ This means that if you're unsure of your eligibility, you can consult with our trainer during the course, and decide during training which certification is right for your career right now.
